Introduction

Staffordshire has responded to the requirements of Every Child Matters and Working Together to Safeguard Children (2006), through the Children's Trust and Safeguarding Children Board. Both of these structures are supporting the development of integrated working at a strategic and operational level.

Safeguarding the wellbeing of children and young people, and ensuring their developmental needs are responded to, are the key factors for effective services within Staffordshire. In order to achieve these aims, partners working with children must be able to effectively identify needs and then take appropriate action to meet them.

The Need Continuum Framework is one of the key tools by which all partners working with children will work collectively to provide services for children along a continuum from universal to targeted services; Levels 1 to 4. The model is incremental with each level building on the next, however, it is not suggested that children and young people have to progress through each level in order to receive a service at the next.

Practitioners should note that concerns about a child suffering, or being likely to suffer significant harm may arise at any point. In such circumstances referral using safeguarding procedures should be immediate.

It is also a dynamic rather than static process with the expectation that with successful intervention, children and young people can move to a lower level of service over time.

This tool will assist us in this process by:-

- Focusing attention on exactly what kind of service is required and at what level.
- Help front line staff focus effort and resources on priorities.
- Help services know when to adjust services and resources according to priorities.
- Assist inter-agency collaboration in terms of developing joined up approaches to working with children.

• The Needs Continuum Framework – What is it for?

Staffordshire Children’s Trust and Staffordshire Safeguarding Children Board endorse this document as a tool to help all partners working with children provide the level of service and intervention a child and their family need in order to fulfil their potential under the 5 Every Child Matters outcomes.

Who will use it?

- If you work with children and young people within a universal service this tool will help you identify the key points at which an additional service may be required.
- Likewise if you are part of a specialist service it may help you identify key points at which other services may need to become involved.
- It will also enable services for children and young people in Staffordshire to locate types of assessments within the framework.

The tool is structured using the Common Assessment Framework process for identifying need; it covers all the key areas for development in a child or young person’s life. It must be used in conjunction with the policies and procedures of the agency/organisation you belong to and in conjunction with the Staffordshire Safeguarding Children Board Inter-Agency Procedures.

The tool is not a guaranteed referral process between agencies/partners and needs to be considered in conjunction with already agreed protocols, some of which have a statutory basis in law.

Finally, for the majority of children in Staffordshire their needs will be met by universal services, and most importantly by their parents and/or care givers. This tool is therefore designed to assist those children and young people who require a level of support over and above the universal in order to safeguard their health and development.

The Framework - The Framework is set out in 4 Levels:

Level 1 - Children or young people with Universal Needs which are being met by universal services and their families. No additional support is required as they are doing well and there are no concerns about health, development or achievement.

Level 2 - Children or young people with Additional Needs whereby their health, development or achievement may be adversely affected.

Level 3 - Children or young people with Complex Needs, requiring targeted preventative services. The child/young person is at risk of becoming looked after; or of suffering significant harm as a result of compromised parenting capacity.

Level 4 - Children or young people with Specialist Needs. They are already looked after, subject of a Child Protection Plan, or have serious enduring health problems.

Each of these levels is considered using the 3 areas covered in the Common Assessment Framework. These areas are: Child's Developmental Needs, Parenting Capacity within the family and Family and Environmental Factors.

Under each area a list of possible indicators is outlined alongside key agencies that provide services in that level and the assessment tools used by them.

Using the tool and the 'Team Around the Child' approach to planning services to meet individual and family identified needs and coordinating services in a multi-agency environment, either action by themselves or in collaboration with others.

How will the framework assist in delivering services?

Information Sharing and Assessment (ISA) guides inter-agency planning and delivery of services to children, young people their families and carers.

ISA encompasses five key processes: Common Assessment Framework; Lead Professional; ContactPoint; organisation and practice of information sharing; and the Children's Services Directory.

See <http://www.everychildmatters.gov.uk/deliveringservices/caf/>

Common Assessment Framework (CAF): the CAF is a nationally standardised approach to conducting an early assessment of a child's needs and deciding how they should be met. It has been developed for practitioners in all agencies so that they can communicate and work more effectively together. It is intended to promote early intervention by providing a simple and practical tool to enable practitioners in universal, as well as in targeted or specialist services, to assess needs at an early stage. Practitioners who work together on a CAF will form a Team Around the Child (TAC).

A CAF will contribute towards a referral being made to children's social care (social services) in safeguarding and promoting a child's welfare. It does not however replace the need for an initial assessment.

The Team Around the Child (TAC): the TAC is defined as an evolving team of those few practitioners who use the CAF process. Members of the TAC see the child/young person and family on a regular basis to provide practical support and those who are able to work directly with the child/young person and family as appropriate.

The TAC should be used when more than one agency is needed to meet the child or young person's needs. The function of the TAC includes:

- Agreeing the needs of the child and family.
- Agreeing the family support needs.
- Supporting the child to meet their identified needs.
- Arranging, as necessary, additional referrals based on a common assessment, as a pathway to targeted and specialist services.
- Reviewing the support given to the child and family.
- Reporting, as required, to other review meetings or resource panels.

It is paramount that the parent/carer and child/young person can relate to the practitioners involved. The paperwork and guidance notes are lodge on Staffordshire Children's Trust website see below

<http://www.staffordshirechildrenstrust.org.uk/ISA/commonassessmentframework/CAFForms/>

Hints and tips on completing CAF and organising and running a team around the child/family can be found at the following link

<http://www.staffordshirechildrenstrust.org.uk/ISA/commonassessmentframework/UsefulHintsTips/>

ContactPoint: the national ContactPoint index will enable practitioners delivering services to children to identify and contact one another easily and quickly, so they can share relevant information about children who need services or about whose welfare they are concerned.

See: <http://www.everychildmatters.gov.uk/deliveringservices/contactpoint/>

Organisation and practice of information sharing: the organisation and practice of information sharing requires that agencies and their practitioners know what information can be shared, when it can be shared and why. However, the legal framework for information sharing is complex. It is often interpreted as constraining, rather than enabling information sharing. Cross-government guidance for practitioners was published in April 2006 to promote effective and appropriate information sharing. This is covered in more depth in the section on information sharing.

See: <http://www.everychildmatters.gov.uk/deliveringservices/informationsharing/>

Children's Services Directory: the directory is being developed to include access to information about services for children of all ages. It will ensure that the team working with the child and family can plan access to services for the whole family.

The Continuum of Need

Please note:

Dependant on child needs, this process can be accessed at any level. Ongoing assessment of the child's needs will result in the child moving through the range of service provisions in any direction.
